■ HANS Cartridge

- Designed and made in Germany
- High in-house production depth
- Use of high quality materials
- Resistant to most chemicals
- Resistant to hot water up to 90°C
- Pressure resistance up to 70 bar
- All used materials meet the requirements of KTW, W270, ACS, WRAS, NSF61
- Excellent life-cycle performance of 4,5 Mio. movements (measured in CeramTec test lab)
- Outstanding comfort zone up to 23° angular degree
- Optional features for all version available

- HANS performance cartridges have all the certificates to prove that it meets the global sanitary industry's high quality standards with regard to both health safety and sterility and that the cartridges have passed endurance tests with 70,000 and 500,000 cycles with nine motions (corresponds to 4.5 million full motions) and are regularly checked and improved. (As measured in the CeramTec Test Center)

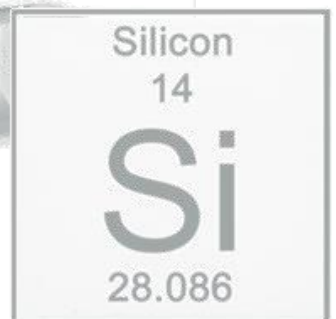

HANS performance cartridges enable extremely precise temperature control: a comfort zone with an angle up to 23°. This is due to the geometry of the Ceramdisc® discs, which achieve close to diamond-like hardness. This also causes any particulates in the water (sand, rust, lime) to be ground between the sliding surfaces without damage.

SUS304 Flexible Silicone Faucets

Food grade Silicone is a man-made polymer, but instead of a carbon backbone like plastic, it has a backbone of silicon and oxygen.

Silicon is an element found in silica, i.e., sand, one of the most common materials on earth. However, to make silicone, silicon is extracted from silica (it rarely exists by itself in nature) and passed through hydrocarbons to create a new polymer with an inorganic silicon-oxygen backbone and carbon-based side groups. What that means is that while the silicon might come from a relatively benign and plentiful resource like sand, the hydrocarbons in silicone come from fossil sources like petroleum and natural gas. So silicone is a kind of hybrid material."

- Can handle temperature extremes, transferring easily from freezer to microwave
 - Flexible, durable and shatter resistant
 - Petroleum-free
 - Dishwasher safe
 - Odor and stain resistant
 - Hygienic and hypoallergenic with no open pores to harbor bacteria
 - Does not fade or scratch
- Silicone has quickly become a household name in the fall-out of toxic plastics. Its starring role begins right away as we introduce it to our babies from the day they're born. It's been touted as inert and versatile, but just what is silicone and is it toxic?
 - Research Shows that food grade silicone used outside the body for food contact is chemically inert, stable, won't leach into food, or off-gas. And Health Canada confirms what we've found: silicone does not react with food or drinks or produce any hazardous fumes
